 JOBS....JOBS....JOBS....JOBS ***

CLEA is glad to present this special issue of the Newsletter which carries only job announcements. There will be a regular edition of the Newsletter later this month, but we wanted to get job information to members at this time in the hiring season. As most of you know, the AALS faculty recruitment conference takes place in Chicago, November 10-12. If you see an interesting job listed here, you might call to see if you can arrange an interview in Chicago, if you are going, or in New Orleans in January. Please let the editor or any Board member know if you think this special issue is worthwhile or wasteful.

NEW LISTINGS

THE THOMAS M. COOLEY LAW SCHOOL

invites applications for two tenure-track faculty positions to be assigned to the clinical program. The faculty members' primary assignment will be to the Sixty Plus Clinic, where they will supervise students serving elderly clients. The faculty members will also teach substantive courses in curriculum from time to time, participate in faculty committee work, manage student competitions, and engage in scholarly activities. Candidates with experience in private practice or clinical teaching experience are encouraged to apply. Candidates should also have a distinguished academic record.

Women, minorities, and members of groups that traditionally have been under-represented in legal education are encouraged to apply.

Immediate application is requested because hiring decisions will be made in early 1995. Contact: Professor Kimberly Colgate, Chair, Faculty Recruitment Comm.; Thomas M. Cooley Law School; 217 S. Capitol Avenue; P.O. Box 13038; Lansing, MI 48901.

Thomas Cooley will send interviewers to the AALS recruitment conference in Chicago. Interested candidates who will be attending the conference, or are in the Chicago area should note that in their letters to Professor Colgate.

GONZAGA UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW may have an opening for a Supervising Attorney in its Clinical Law Program starting June, 1995. Applicants should have substantial professional experience as a practicing attorney with an interest in the areas of domestic relations and public interest law, a superior academic record and a dedication to excellence in teaching. Prior clinical law experience is not a prerequisite, but is desirable.

Admission to practice in the State of Washington is not a prerequisite but is desirable. However, the person selected to fill this position must be prepared to seek admission to the Washington bar. Applications from minority group members, women, and others whose background may contribute to Applicants should be available for a preliminary interview at the 1994 AALS Faculty Recruitment Conference in Chicago, November 10-12. The closing date for applications is October 31.

MARQUETTE UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL

invites applications for the position of Director of Clinical Education. Responsibilities of the Director include oversight and coordination of existing externship and clinical programs, development of additional externship and clinical programs, teaching classroom components for certain clinical programs, engaging in scholarly activities, exploring grant opportunities, and participating in national and regional clinical education organizations. The position does not involve direct supervision of student in an in-house, real client clinic.

The Director will occupy a tenure-track, faculty position. Teaching opportunities in clinical and nonclinical courses may be available from time to time.

Candidates with clinical teaching and administrative experience are especially encouraged to apply. The Law School particularly welcomes applications from women, minorities, and others whose backgrounds will contribute to the diversity of the faculty.

Applications will be considered beginning November 10, 1994, and applications will be accepted until a Director is appointed. Applicants should send a letter of application and resume to Prof. Jay E. Grenig, Chair, Faculty Appointments Comm., Law School, Marquette University, Milwaukee, WI 53233. Marquette is an equal opportunity and affirmative action employer.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN LAW SCHOOL

is seeking applicants for three full-time positions in our in-house, live-client clinics, beginning in September 1995-96. (1) One opening is for a long-term contract. Depending on the qualifications of the person hired, this position will be filled either by an initial three-year contract as a Clinical Assistant Professor -- which will lead to consideration for a seven-year renewable contract as a Clinical Professor -- or directly by a seven-year renewable contract as a Clinical Professor. (2) The remaining two positions, also with the title Clinical Assistant Professor, will provide two-year contracts, with the possibility of one additional year of employment at the Dean's discretion.

Applicants should have a strong litigation background. Teaching experience is preferred. Demonstrated excellence in clinical teaching and the ability to administer a clinical program are prerequisites for the long-term contract. No specific substantive specialization is required.

Applicants should send a letter of interest and a resume to:

Professor Samuel Gross
Chair, Clinical Advisory Committee
University of Michigan Law School
Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109-1215

The application deadline is December 15, 1994. Questions should be directed to Professor Samuel Gross (313/764-1519; e-mail: samuel.r.gross@umich.edu) or to Professor Suellen Scarnecchia (313/763-5000; e-mail: suellen.scarnecchia@um.cc.umich.edu). SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW, Dallas, Texas, is seeking candidates for tenure track positions in its CIVIL and CRIMINAL clinics.

These are not "soft money" positions. Prior practice experience required. Prior clinical teaching experience is preferred. Our criminal clinic students represent indigent misdemeanor defendants in the county criminal courts. Our civil clinic is litigation oriented, but we are open to changing part of it to a "transaction" clinic. Candidates must be available Aug. 1, 1995. Our tenure criteria require scholarship and teaching of high quality. SMU is an EOE/AA employer.

Please send all resumes and inquiries to Prof. Jeffery Gaba, Chair, Faculty Appointments Comm., Southern Methodist University School of Law, P.O. Box 750116 Dallas, TX 75275-0116

THE UNIVERSITY OF TENNESSEE COLLEGE OF LAW

invites applications for a full-time, tenure-track faculty position to commence in the fall semester of 1995. Although all qualified applicants will be considered whatever their interests, areas of particular need include: clinical teaching, litigation skills, and professional responsibility.

Candidates must possess a J.D. or comparable degree, have a strong academic background, and be able to satisfy the requirements for admission to the Tennessee Bar. Substantial professional experience and/or experience in clinical and skills teaching is desirable. Candidates also must demonstrate a strong commitment to excellence in teaching, scholarship, and service.

In furtherance of the University's and College's fundamental commitment to a diverse faculty, minority group members and women are strongly encouraged to apply.

THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA SCHOOL OF LAW

invites applications for an appointment to fill a Civil Clinical Faculty Position. The person who fills this position will be responsible for developing, supervising, and teaching in a civil clinical program initially involving external placements and appropriate classroom components. The clinician would also teach one or more courses involving negotiation and/or alternative dispute resolution skills. The opportunity might also exist to teach in other areas of law.

andidates should have law practice experience and a demonstrated commitment to and competence in legal scholarship. Past successful civil clinical law teaching and administrative experience is highly desirable.

It is expected that the person who fills this position will be appointed as an assistant or associate professor eligible for tenure and promotion pursuant to the rules and procedures generally applicable to the law faculty. It is also expected that -- as is ordinarily the case with other tenure-track faculty members -- employment will be on a nine-month academic-year basis with the opportunity to secure summer stipends to facilitate legal research and writing.

This is a start-up situation. No formal civil clinic now operates at the University of Georgia School of Law. In the near-term, it is expected that this position principally will involve supervision of students in external placements, with no (or very limited) direct responsibility for representing clients. The newly created clinical program may also continue some or all of the work of the school's existing Public Interest Project class. As part of this class, students engage in such activities as representing battered women in proceedings for temporary protective orders, pursuing alternative dispute resolution on behalf of juvenile offenders, and otherwise intervening (often by working through the local homeless shelter, soup kitchen, magistrate's court, etc.) on behalf of persons in need, typically in a non-litigation context.

While future program direction and job duties will depend on such matters as student interest and the availability of resources, this position will provide the opportunity to help build a new civil clinical program.

Applications must be received by no later than December 15, 1994. The Law School is committed to diversity in its faculty and encourages all qualified persons to apply. The University of Georgia is an equal opportunity-affirmative action institution.

UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA SCHOOL OF LAW is accepting applications for the position of Clinical Program Director, a tenure track position. The Director will oversee the work of the Law School's internal and external clinics, collaborate with the faculty, clinical staff attorneys, and dean in developing and implementing long-range plans for the law clinics, and participate in the supervision of students in the school's required clinical program. Currently the law school has two internal and seven external live client clinics. The law school requires third year students to take a minimum of four clinical credits. The clinical program is an integral part of the law school's unique curriculum emphasizing the integration of theory and practice.

Applications should be submitted by November 7, 1994. Applications should include a cover letter and resume; an official law school transcript; and names, addresses and phone numbers of 3 references. The Univ. of Montana is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, women, minorities, persons with disabilities and Vietnam era veterans are strongly encouraged to apply. Contact: Chair, Faculty Appointments Comm., School of Law, Univ. of Montana, Missoula, MT, 59812-1071.

CHICAGO-KENT COLLEGE OF LAW:

HEALTH and FAMILY LAW CLINIC

The Law Offices of Chicago-Kent College of Law, Illinois Institute of Technology, has been granted a new three-year grant from the United States Department of Education to expand its clinical education program by employing a practicing attorney/clinical educator in its newly created health law clinic.

The applicant should have strong academic credentials and a minimum of five years of lawyering experience with a specialty in health/family law. The ideal applicant will have an interest in providing representation mostly to low income clients with health law problems; such as, clients who are denied access to their own medical records, clients who need or desire access to alternative practitioners such as midwives, or clients who are denied access to treatment or provided unequal treatment due to being on Medicaid, in particular, poor children who have been denied clinic care.

The attorney who is hired for the position will supervise students working on cases that the attorney generates and will teach lawyering skills in a classroom setting. A substantial salary is negotiable, depending upon background and experience. We offer an excellent opportunity for a talented attorney wishing to teach and practice in a unique setting.

The Illinois Institute of Technology is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer and encourages minorities and women to apply. Open Date: August, 1994.
