ARKANSAS-LITTLE ROCK

VISITING INSTRUCTOR and MEDIATOR

Visiting Instructor: The University of Arkansas at Little Rock School of Law seeks applications for a visiting instructor in a new mediation project. The instructor would develop and run a mediation project of the Legal Clinic including teaching and supervising students who would participate in mediations in juvenile court child abuse or neglect cases. The instructor would also supervise a professional mediator who would handle the caseload not handled by the clinic students.

Applicants must have a Juris Doctorate. Applicants should have a superior academic record and a dedication to excellence in teaching. Prior mediation experience is preferred.

Immediate application is requested. This position is conditional on funding.

Mediator: The University of Arkansas at Little Rock School of Law seeks applications for a mediator to work in a new mediation project of the Legal Clinic. The project will facilitate mediations in juvenile court child abuse or neglect cases. The mediator would work with a clinical faculty member who will be developing a mediation program for students. The mediator would handle the caseload not handled by the clinic students.

The applicant must have some mediation experience. Prior training and experience in family or juvenile court mediation is preferred. Applicants must have a Masters in Social Work degree. A juris doctorate is not a prerequisite but is preferred. Immediate application is requested. This position is conditional on funding.

For both positions, send letters of interest and resumes to Professor Lawrence Averill, Chair, Faculty Recruitment Committee, University of Arkansas at Little Rock School of Law, 1201 McAlmont Street, Little Rock, AR 72202-5142.

The University of Arkansas at Little Rock is an equal opportunity affirmative action employer and actively seeks the candidacy or minorities, women, Vietnam-era veterans and persons with disabilities. Under Arkansas law, all applications are subject to disclosure.

BALTIMORE

CLINICAL FELLOWSHIPS

The University of Baltimore School of Law invites applications for Fellowships in its Civil Litigation and Family Law Clinics to start approximately May 1 and August 1, respectively. This public interest fellowship program offers practicing attorneys exposure to law school clinical teaching.

The fellow's duties include direct supervision of case work of clinic students and clinic class-room teaching in coordination with clinic faculty. Fellows also pursue a personal learning plan negotiated with his/her clinic director which provides opportunities for writing projects.

This position is a contractual appointment for up to two years (non-renewable). Qualifications: Excellent oral and written communication skills; at least two years of experience as a practicing lawyer; a strong academic record and/or other indicia of high performance ability; commitment to work for low income clients and a lively interest in teaching. Salary: currently $40,000 plus full benefits (including tax deferred retirement annuities). Research and travel support is provided.

To apply, submit a letter of interest and curriculum vitae by February 1, 1998, or until the position is filled, to Professor Jane Murphy for the Family Law Clinic Fellowship and to Prof. Martin Geer, for the Civil Clinic Fellowship, University of Baltimore School of Law, 40 W. Chase Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201; Phone: (410) 837-5713; Fax: (410) 333-3053. The University of Baltimore is an equal opportunity employer. Minority candidates are encouraged to apply. Currently, Fellows must be members of the Maryland Bar to supervise law practice by students.

BROOKLYN

CLINICAL INSTRUCTOR

BROOKLYN LAW SCHOOL will be hiring a clinical instructor to co-teach the Federal Litigation Clinic with Minna Kotkin. Students participating in The Federal Litigation Clinic represent plaintiffs in a variety of federal cases including employment discrimination, civil rights matters, claims for disability benefits. There is also a class action component of the clinic. Students perform all of the work necessary to represent the clients from the pleading stage, through discovery, settlement negotiations, trial and even appeal to the Second Circuit.

The position is a year-long, one-year contract with a possibility of one renewal and will begin no later than September, 1998. Interested applicants should send a resume to Stacy Caplow, Brooklyn Law School, 250 Joralemon Street, Brooklyn NY 11201.

IDAHO

CLINIC DIRECTOR

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO COLLEGE OF LAW seeks applications for the position of Clinical Director. This is a tenure-track position on a fiscal-year appointment. Applicants should have: strong academic credentials and the potential for productive scholarship; a strong commitment to teaching, particularly in a clinical setting; demonstrated effectiveness in the practice of law, including litigation experience; a strong commitment to service; and the ability to effectively administer the clinical program. Application deadline is October 31, 1997, or as soon thereafter as the position is filled. A letter of application and resume listing three references should be sent to Professor Arthur Smith, Chair, Faculty Appointments Committee, College of Law, University of Idaho, Moscow, ID 83844-2321. The University of Idaho is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer and applications from those who would increase faculty diversity at the College of Law are encouraged.

JOHN MARSHALL

CLINICAL EDUCATION

The John Marshall Law School invites applications for the position of Professor of Clinical Education beginning in the 1998-99 academic year. The position of Professor of Clinical Education is designed to add to the faculty an individual who is committed to the theory and implementation of clinical education and the pervasive inclusion of clinical and/or experiential education at all levels of the School's curriculum.

This tenure-track appointment carries full-faculty status, including academic rank and salary commensurate with experience and background. In addition to teaching responsibilities, the Professor of Clinical Education will work with the faculty on the development of new clinical or experiential components to complement existing doctrinal courses, consult with the director and staff of the Fair Housing Legal Clinic to develop further initiatives in the clinic, and administer the School's existing General Externship Program.

Applicants should have extensive practice experience, particularly in litigation and trial advocacy, and should have excellent academic backgrounds with a demonstrated ability in research and writing. Experience administering and/or teaching in a clinical legal education program is very desirable.

Please submit a cover letter, current resume, and writing sample to:

Professor Michael G. Heyman.
The John Marshall Law School
315 S. Plymouth Court
Chicago, IL 60604

MAINE

CLINICAL FACULTY

The University of Maine School of Law invites applications for a full-time tenure track position. Duties include serving as Faculty Supervisor for students enrolled in the Law School's General Practice clinical program (civil and criminal), and teaching various courses in the Law School curriculum. We are particularly interested in reviewing applications from candidates with expertise or interest in Trusts and Estates, Land Transactions, other advanced courses in the property area, or Alternative Dispute Resolution. Qualifications include a J.D. degree, strong academic credentials, relevant practice experience, evidence of teaching ability, and a demonstrated commitment to scholarship. Candidates should also possess excellent administrative skills and a willingness to assume the directorship of the Law School's Clinic and its clinical programs at some time in the future. Rank and salary will be competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Members of minority groups, women, and others whose backgrounds would contribute to the diversity of the School are encouraged to apply. All applicants should submit a current resume and letter outlining teaching and scholarship interests to Professor Colleen A. Khoury, Chair, Faculty Appointments Committee, Re:[105], University of Maine School of Law, 246 Deering Avenue, Portland, Maine 04102. Review of applications will begin on October 15, 1997, and will continue until the position is filled.

The University of Maine School of Law is the law school of the University of Maine System and an administrative unit of the University of Southern Maine. UM/USM is an EEO/AA employer committed to diversity, quality and reasonable accommodation.

MARYLAND

CLINICAL FACULTY

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND SCHOOL OF LAW invites applications for a clinical faculty position for the 1998-99 academic year. The new clinical teacher will be a member of the Law School Faculty and the Clinical Law Program. Depending on the qualifications/preferences of the best applicant, the new clinic will be either
1) a community-based transactional clinic, with economic, housing and community-development practice specialties or 2) a community-based clinic in which the faculty member and students provide specialized legal services, e.g., in consumer law (strong first preference), family law and/or entitlements law. In addition to the traditional clinical educational goals, this new clinic (whether it turns out to be number 1 or 2) will seek to model ways in which publicly-interested lawyers can develop practices in which they integrate "public interest" and "private practice".

This is a secure and enduring State-funded line that will begin as a two year contract. The focus of the position will be on practice and teaching rather than research and scholarship. Candidates should possess strong practice and academic backgrounds, and demonstrated teaching ability or the potential to be a good teacher. The University of Maryland School of Law is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Minorities and Women are encouraged to apply.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND SCHOOL OF LAW invites applications for a contractual clinical teaching position for the 1998-99 academic year. The new hire will develop, administer, assume primary practice responsibility for and supervise students in a criminal defense clinical practice. This person will supervise 20-22 second and third year students annually (10-11 per semester), in misdemeanor and felony cases, and occasionally capital cases. Candidates should have substantial criminal defense practice experience outside a clinical program; substantial in-house clinical teaching experience; demonstrated excellence as a lawyer and clinical teacher; and the ability to work effectively with the State's Public Defender Program. The person must be a member of the Maryland bar (strong preference), or be qualified and willing to take the February, 1998 Attorney's Examination, for admission by June 1, 1998. The University of Maryland School of Law is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Minorities and Women are encouraged to apply.

SYRACUSE

THREE FACULTY POSITIONS AVAILABLE FALL 1998

Syracuse University College of Law invites applications for two faculty openings for Fall, 1998.

TENURE-TRACK FACULTY

POSITION. Particular needs include, but are not limited to, international law, business and tax related courses, and any first year course. Seek superior academic record, publications, teaching or practice experience. J.D. degree required.

CLINICAL FACULTY

POSITION. The in-house clinic faculty (non-tenure track) position is in the Children's Rights and Family Law Clinic. Candidates should have practice experience in children's rights, family law, and related areas. Candidates should have a strong academic record, J.D., license to practice in New York or another state, and should evidence a commitment to clinic teaching. The appointment will be a three-year renewable term appointment with full benefits. Responsibilities include supervising students on real cases in court or before administrative agencies, teaching the seminar component of the clinic, and providing services to the College of Law, University and profession through scholarship, committee work or other activities.

DIRECTOR OF LEGAL RESEARCH AND WRITING PROGRAM

Syracuse expects to have an opening for a new Director of its Legal Research and Writing Program. This will be a two year visiting position to begin in the fall of 1998.

Applications will be accepted until the positions are filled; however, priority consideration will be given to applications received before December 31, 1997. Send resume to Professor Travis H.D. Lewin, Faculty Appointments Committee, Syracuse University College of Law, Syracuse, New York 13244-1030. SU is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer committed to diversity.

WASHBURN

CLINICAL DIRECTOR

Washburn University School of Law invites applications for a probable available faculty position as director of the Washburn Law Clinic. This position is tenure track and allows the faculty member to also teach in the regular classroom. Washburn has a long tradition --since the clinic's inception in 1969-- of hiring clinicians in tenure track faculty slots, with no distinction in status, salary or benefits. We currently have five faculty who teach in the law clinic.

Our clinic is a live-client, general practice clinic in which students enroll for one semester, for four or five hours of credit. The students are assigned to a faculty supervisor who selects cases within his or her area of expertise and interest. We only represent persons in our county.

Minimum qualifications include a J.D. degree, a strong academic record, scholarly potential, substantial legal practice, interest in clinical teaching, and eligibility for the Kansas bar. Prior teaching experience in a law clinic is desirable.

Applications will be accepted through December 31, 1997, and until such later time as the suitable applicant is found.

Washburn University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer. Interested applicants should submit letters, resumes, and law school transcripts to:

Professor Sheila Reynolds
Chair, Faculty Recruitment Committee
Washburn University School of Law
Topeka, Kansas 66621

WAYNE STATE

CLINICAL FACULTY

Wayne State University Law School is seeking applications for a position as a clinical faculty member. Responsibilities may include: (1) teaching skills courses, such as trial advocacy and negotiation; developing new skills courses; and assisting faculty in offering skills components in current courses; (2) supervising students in off-campus internships and clinics delivering legal services to live clients; (3) assisting the Director of Lawyering Skills in a variety of projects, including evaluating existing skills and clinical offerings and developing new programs. The position is a non-tenure track, three-year appointment, with a possibility of renewal. Interest in contributing to the clinical or lawyering skills literature is welcome.

The qualifications for the position include a J.D. degree, a superior academic record, and significant law practice or clinical teaching experience. Persons interested in applying should send a vita and cover letter to Professor Stephen Calkins, Chair, Faculty Appointments Committee, Wayne State University Law School, Detroit, MI 48202.

Wayne State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.

WILLAMETTE

CLINIC DIRECTOR

Willamette University College of Law seeks to fill the position of the Directorship of the College of Law Clinical Program. The Directorship is a tenure-track teaching position. The University has a strong institutional commitment to diversity among its faculty and staff. In that spirit, we are particularly interested in receiving applications from persons from under-represented groups including women and persons of color. Applicants must be able to demonstrate the potential for excellence in clinical teaching and scholarship and a commitment to public service. The College of Law, one of the oldest law schools in the West, is housed in a beautiful facility and offers an excellent salary and benefits package. The position will remain open until filled; however, to assure consideration by the Appointments Committee, applications should be submitted as soon as possible. Contact: Professor Richard B. Hagedorn, Chair, Faculty Appointments Committee, Willamette University College of Law, 245 Winter Street SE, Salem, Oregon, 97301.

WILLIAM MITCHELL

VISITING PROFESSOR

William Mitchell College of Law seeks an experienced teacher for a visiting professorship for the 1998-99 academic year. Course responsibilities would include co-teaching either the Civil Advocacy Clinic OR the Lawyering skills course, and a doctrinal class. The doctrinal course choice is somewhat flexible: our needs range from Civil Procedure to Trusts and Estates, Administrative Law and Criminal Law.

The Civil Advocacy Clinic is a client representation clinic, co-taught with tenured faculty members, that handles a variety of civil matters for indigent clients. Lawyering is a required 3 credit simulation-based course that covers interviewing, counseling, negotiating, drafting, mediation, direct and cross examination, opening and trial. Which of these courses the Visiting Professor will be assigned to teach will depend in part upon her or his experience and interest.

For further information about this position (in beautiful St. Paul, Minnesota), contact either Ann Juergens 612\290-6391 or [ajuergens@wmitchell.edu] or Matthew Downs, Chair of the Appointments Committee 612\290-6404 or [mtdowns@wmitchell.edu].
